

Map the assistant's reach

Use this page to separate model capability from access to the right information.

Type in the fields or print. Save your copy. No answers are sent to Redbroch.

Use non-sensitive descriptions. Do not enter client records or credentials.

01 Which sources does the question depend on?

List the records needed for a complete answer and where each currently lives.

02 Which sources can the assistant actually read?

Record how access was verified. Distinguish available, unavailable and not yet tested.

03 How will someone check the answer?

What citation or source link should appear? How will you check that it supports the claim?

04 What should happen when information is missing?

Describe a safe response, permission boundary and a test using invented records.

Discussion aid only. Not tax, legal or security advice.

Companion article: redbroch.com/what-an-assistant-can-reach.html